

Sitegap

Terms & Conditions

Please read the below terms and conditions carefully.

Your purchase of a website from Paul Osborne's Sitegap is confirmation that you have read and agree to the below terms and conditions.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All Sitegap websites are covered by an International Copyright, and the copyright is owned by PD Osborne of Sitegap.com. If you copy and/or resell our websites without prior permission, we will take legal action and you will be prosecuted.

1. The sale of a Sitegap website is for personal use, and use in your personal business only. You may only resell the website (Modified or Unmodified) with the Domain Name it was purchased with and with prior permission from Sitegap.com.
2. You are authorized to make any necessary modifications to your website, however you may not claim ownership or that you are the designer of the website, modified or unmodified.
3. The Articles on the website are Private Label Products. You are free to change, edit or rewrite the content of the articles. You may not resell or reuse the articles without first making significant modifications,
4. All images used in our websites are copyrighted by their respective owners and are subject to limited use. You do not have rights to reuse them anywhere else including websites. Further you do not have rights to resell the images used in our under any circumstances.
5. Plug-ins used on our Wordpress websites, are either open source or have been purchased with a developers licence. The plug-ins that we use are licensed (open source or otherwise) and if you use them without obtaining a proper license you will be liable for damages and copyright infringement.

Sitegap reserves the right to change or modify these terms with no prior notice.

April 2010